

About Course

NOTE: This course is an updated version of the Microsoft Retired course:

MOC 20761-C: QUERYING DATA WITH TRANSACT-SQL

This course is based on the Microsoft Retired MOC 20761 and it follows the same outline and context. In some cases the Content has change to allow for new security updates and better course structure. However, this course is design to introduced learners of all ages how to work and create solutions using DBMS Database Management Systems and the essentials of working with Transact-SQL. It has been updated to be delivered in a five days instructor-led section or self-paced with digital instructor-lectures, as your trainer provider for the self-paced access the digital courseware. This course would allow students to pass examinations which follow the same pattern as the Microsoft exam 70-761.